Red Cross Donations Lagging, Says Report

Mrs. Charles Orleans, chairman of the 1951 American Red Cross fund drive for Greenbelt, reports that collections are lagging with the drive more than half completed. Volunteer workers are redoubling their efforts to make Greenbelt's quota of $825.

Last Friday several of the volunteer workers, Mrs. Edward Kaighn, Mrs. Stanley Elmdars, Mrs. Lloyd Moore and Mrs. Marcella Granfield, attended the weekly Red Cross report luncheon in Washington with Mrs. Orleans. Collections throughout the area are slow in coming in and Major General Lewis Hershey, director of Selective Service, told the workers that a re-canvas may have to be made in some areas as it is vital that all quotas be met.

Among activities being carried on in Greenbelt by the Red Cross are first aid classes, home service for needy veterans and families, transportation service by the motor corps for patients in need of treatment, bandage-rolling, and collection of blood for the armed services and hospitals in the area. Courses are available through the Prince Georges County Chapter (located in Hyattsville) in Nurses Aid training and in training for Home Nursing. When the swimming pool is open, the issuance of Red Cross certificates is made possible thru the cooperation of the Red Cross, which provides for the instruction of a recreation worker trained in water safety.

This year the task of training more and more volunteers for more efficient function in the civilian defense program falls to the Red Cross, and must be met in addition to the regular tasks, such as disaster relief, safety classes and various home service duties.

On Monday, March 26, the children will have an Egg Hunt. Each group will meet in front of the swimming pool, where instructions for the hunt will be explained and the area to be covered in looking for the hidden eggs will be disclosed. Prizes will be awarded to the child in each group to find the most eggs, and to the ones who find certain prize eggs, such as the Greenbelt Egg, and the Red, White and Blue Egg. HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Shirley Morrison

On April 2, 130 people from the 11th grade history sections with their teachers, Mr. Richards and Mr. Martell, are going on an alling the Civil War Period. At Gettysburg. They have been studying the Civil War Period. At Gettysburg they will hear a lecture and see the electric map before viewing the battlefield.

The "Pioneer", school paper, won third rating in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association convention held in New York. Greenbelt placed in the 750-1000 student group.

The music revue, "That's Life", presented March 15 and 16, had capacity audiences attending both nights.

Mrs. Beveridge, business teacher, has arranged for officials of the Civil Service Commission to come to Greenbelt High School to give stenographer-typist exams to the senior girls after Easter. Whenever 25 or more students request to take an examination in the Washington area, the commission has stated it will give them at the high schools.

The 11th and 12th graders saw 2 movies on safe driving last week, and heard a talk by one of the Maryland State Policemen.

The Student Council is working on plans for Student Day to be held in April. On this day, the students take over the teachers', principal's, secretary's, and janitors' jobs and are elected by the student body.

PHA Turns Over Roads To City; Council Discusses Bus, Library

Public Housing Administration will dedicate 9½ miles of roads to the city of Greenbelt this week, the city council was told at last Monday night's meeting. Approved by the Maryland Park and Planning Commission and the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, the dedication will be accepted by resolution at the next council meeting. City Manager Charles T. McDonald recommended the acceptance of the roadways, and assured the council that the roads are in good condition.

Turning over the roads to the city was to be the first of a series of dedications (including buildings, park areas and playgrounds) anticipated before the imminent sale of Greenbelt by the Federal government. However, no other dedications are foreseen at present. Ownership and upkeep of the roads will allow the city to participate in a proportionate share of the gasoline taxes to the state. Dedication does not include the courts or parking areas.

Pool Rates Reduced

The council approved a reduction in swimming pool rates for servicemen to 25c. A suggestion to raise general rates for the public met laughter and defeat when the council agreed that its inability to use surplus funds at its own discretion offered no encouragement to make a profit on the community service. (The federal government denied a request from council to use city surplus for a welfare department and assistance to the rescue squad.)

The city manager will investi-

Drop-Inn Parents Re-Activate Guild

By Aimee Slye

Thirty-six energetic parents braved a downpour Monday night to attend the first meeting of the newly activated Parents' Guild of the Drop-Inn, headed by cochairmen Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Kurth. Mr. Kurth explained the necessity for interesting parents in the activities of the Youth Center, and each member of the Advisory Board gave a short outline of the work he was doing for the Drop-Inn.

Irvin Dietzel, president of the Advisory Board, explained the organization of the board and sketched the development of the Youth Center; Mrs. O. M. Slye, secretary of the board, spoke on the need for participation of the parents in the various activities carried on by the board. Mrs. Henry Walter, treasurer, discussed ways in which parents could help in improving the Drop-Inn Building, pointing out the need for new curtains, etc. Mrs. H. James Kennedy, chairman of hosts and hostesses, discussed the work parents could do in this capacity. Beverly Fonda talked about the various recreational activities carried out through the Drop-Inn.

Miss Ora Donoghue, Youth Councilor to the Advisory Board, spoke on the over-all program of the Youth Center and Miss Barbara DelVecchia, present recreation department worker assigned to the Drop-Inn, talked about future plans for the Center.

The parents inspected the Youth Center and were impressed with the cleanliness and order of the building. Some of the parents stated they had not realized that there was a need for them in the Drop-Inn program, and all expressed an interest in the continuance of the Parents' Guild. It was decided to hold meetings of the Guild on a quarterly basis.

Mrs. Slye announced that the Board will sponsor a fashion show May 2, with styles from Jelleff's.

gate possibilities of enlarging the area around the children's pool, and lengthening the class periods for swimming lessons.

City To Deliver Telegrams

First reading of a resolution to provide Western Union service to Greenbelt was passed. The telegraph agency was reported reluctant to permit the service to originate from private homes. The city is temporarily providing the service. McDonald stated that the city will get 50c for each telegram delivered by the police, and will pay a delivery boy 20c to deliver the telegram.

McDonald and Councilman Francis Lastner were to represent Greenbelt at the hearings in Silver Spring on the proposed discontinuance of Capital Transit bus service to Greenbelt. Lastner expressed optimism that the move will be defeated, citing the support of Senator Herbert O'Connor and various government and civic groups. Margaret Carmody, one of the citizens present, inquired whether it was possible for the Greyhound Bus line to provide the service. McDonald replied that they had been approached but that nothing definite had been learned.

Mayor Elizabeth Harrington made a plea for improvements in the park area around the lake. Councilman James Wolfe suggested that a caretaker be employed for weekend duty in the lake area to stop destruction and abuse of public property. McDonald stated that he was considering establishing a parking area near the entrance of the park, and will prohibit cars from driving throughout the grounds. He declared that this would save money on maintenance, besides making the area safer. The possibilities of a concession being granted to sell refreshments and picnic supplies will also be investigated.

School, Library

McDonald was instructed by council to seriously consider waiving the fees for use of the community building by local organizations. It was disclosed by McDonald that many worth-while programs were financial failures because of the fees charged by the city for janitor service and use of the community building. Mayor Harrington expressed her pleasure at the extensive use of the community building by citizens, and asserted that this kind of activity should be encouraged.

Limited space available to the library at present is considered inadequate by members of council. Discussion of the situation disclosed that there was no immediate solution to the problem, since all other school room space is used heavily. One council member expressed the hope that some benefactor might some day endow the community with a separate library building.

McDonald reminded the council of a suggestion made by a Cooperator reporter several months ago that revenue from the personal property tax on businesses be used to build and maintain a separate library building. PHA's unwillingness to let the council control expenditures of city revenue was determined to be the obstruction to that suggestion.

Library Notes

Sponsored by the American Library Association, NOTABLE BOOKS OF 1950 has now been made public. This year's list contains only 39 titles. We are happy to announce that the Greenbelt Public Library has nearly 50% of these titles on its shelves. For a small library we feel that is a nice showing and a commendation to its reading public.

The compilers of this list were bound by the following standards of selection:

(1) - Selections were to be made only from books published in the United States in 1950, for adult readers and in the English language.

(2) - Books selected were to be genuinely meritorious in terms of literary excellence, factual, correctness, sincerity and honesty of presentation, value and interest to readers. Books solely for diversional reading and of transitory popular interest were to be EXCLUDED.

(3) - Primary basis of selection was to be the important role each book could play in promoting enlightened citizenship and enriching personal life.

Typhoid Shots Urged As Defense Measure

As a civil defense precautionary measure, city manager Charles T. McDonald urges all residents to take advantage of the typhoid inoculations offered by the public health department. State public health department publications recommend the inoculations. In the event of bombing the danger of typhoid would be increased.

McDonald reports an increase in the number of cases of measles reported in the last two weeks. There also have been two cases of scarlet fever.

WCFM Releases 2 New Choral Records

WCFM maintains its record for "first" on records. Two contemporary choral works of great merit, Zoltan Kodaly's Missa Brevis and Benjamin Britten's Rejoice In The Lamb comprise the fourth long-playing record released by WCFM. Both works are sung by the Chancel Choir of the National Presbyterian Church, Washington, D. C. Theodore Schaefer is organist and conductor.

The first public performance in this country of Kodaly's Missa Brevis was given by the National Presbyterian Church Choir on January 26, 1947, with Zoltan Kodaly himself conducting. Benjamin Britten's Rejoice In The Lamb puts to music a poem by Christopher Smart, "Jubilate Agno". Smart, a neo-classical poet who suffered periodic confinement for religious mania, was a contemporary and close friend of Dr. Samuel Johnson. Britten has captured the strange and moving beauty of Christopher Smart's words in this cantata.

Stripling 11 and Moore 8. Green Meadows Juniors haven't been defeated in three years. Thurs. our Seniors defeated Green Meadows 49 to 26, Hi, Frady 10, Kelleher and Brittenbinder 8. Saturday our Midgets defeated Berwyn 49 to 13. Hi was Melloy with 19 Saturday night at the All Boy's Club Night our Midget defeated Bladensburg 24 to 13. Hi, Baker 10, Schoeb 8. Juniors lost a very close one in the final seconds of play 29 to 32; Hi, Mike Cickill with 7. Seniors lost to Bladensburg 31 to 24; Hi, Brittenbinder and Frady 7 each.

Midgets won the Easter Section of the County League and will meet the winners of the Western Section to decide the Midget County Champions.

We are entering a 115 lb Basketball team in the County Tournament. This Tournament will consist of team from County Recreation, YMCA and County Boy's Clubs. Tournament play will begin next week at the University of Maryland Armory.

The Boy's Club wishes to take this opportunity to thank the Greenbelt Band, the Majorettes, the tumblers, Miss Joab Mandell, Mr. Bill Dotson and Mr. Ray Krug for their splendid help in making our All Boy's Club Night a success. A lot of credit goes to Mr. DonBullian for his work in arranging the program. The only disappointing feature of the evening was the lack of attendance of adults, especially parents of boys who are club members.

Our annual Boxing-Basketball Banquet will be held April 25 at the Community Church at 6:45 pm. Dinner will be prepared and served by the Ladies Guild. All parents of the Boxers and Basketball players are urged to attend as awards, letters, and certificates will be given out to those boys eligible. Please obtain your tickets from the boys as there will be no tickets sold at the door and please get them early so we may advise the ladies how many to expect.

Boxing activities at the center school have been completed with the possibility of one more boxing show after the Golden Gloves Tournament in Washington is completed. Our boxing team has been very active this season and did very well. Twelve members of the Greenbelt Boxing team were selected as members of the Prince Georges County Boy's Club team now competing in the Washington Golden Gloves Tournament.

Co-op Commentary

Labor leaders are protesting against wage stabilization without more positive price controls. They met in Washington this week to attempt to force some additional government action.

Labor points out that the retailer and the consumer are caught in the same price squeeze. The following press release is a fair statement of the retailers' position.

"Retailers Look Ahead

"What is the outlook for the retailer for the near future?"

"Four hundred retailers, including both chains and independents, were recently surveyed as to this question. And their answers are of wide general interest.

"First of all, most storekeepers expect an increase in their dollar volume. But, at the same time, they foresee slimmer profits.

"The reason for that is a heavy increase in retailing costs. Of the reports retailers, 64 per cent anticipated higher advertising costs, 70 per cent higher selling costs, and 67 per cent higher payroll costs. The two retail problems most frequently and heavily emphasized were personnel and prices. And, according to a press account, 'running as a common pattern through the comments was an awareness of customer problems—the scarcity of wanted merchandise at the time wanted—and a feeling of uncertainty concerning the future.'

"The retailer, in other words, bears the brunt of inflations, just as all the rest of us do. Rising prices hurt him, just as they hurt the consumer. More and more dollars may roll in—but more and more dollars must roll out too, and the profit declines.

"The retailer—for reasons of self-interest alone—is solidly on the consumer's side when it comes to inflation."

An excellent selection of buttons is on display in the variety store notions department. It is augmented by a large spring shipment from Le Chic, nationally known for fine buttons. The array includes many styles in plastic, metal, and glass.

Another new variety store arrival: sheer organdie and batiste blouses at $2.98, just in time for Easter.

Shakespeare's Henry V at the Greenbelt Theatre Tuesday, March 27, offers an opportunity for the whole family to see this colorful classic at no increase in prices.

Response to our introduction of Beltsville Turkey broilers last week was very good. We sold out early Saturday afternoon, but hope to secure a larger supply for this weekend.

One other meat item that has been called to our attention this week is the Oscar Mayer Canned Ham in raisin sauce. Good for a change, and the can size, 1 lb. 7½ oz., is big enough but not too expensive.

FIREMEN RED?

There was more red than usual in the local fire house last week. Seems as though a cable from a battery on one of the fire trucks started fire under the engine. Damage to the fire engine was slight.

How To Deal With a
Margarine Hater

Everyone knows that margarine nutritionally has the same value as butter. Still, many a husband won't eat margarine. Sometimes it is the wife who insists on butter. It won't help to try to put one over on the gourmet; a person with a sensitive palate can detect the difference.

However, the brand of margarine you buy may make a substantial difference. Consumers Union had 2 dairy experts, working independently, make taste tests on 29 different brands of margarine and a number of brands of butter. The experts were asked to score the unidentified samples on how closely the flavor approached that of good butter. The experts were able to say which was butter and which was margarine in all cases.

Both had very similar scores. The scores told the following story:

1. Some of the butter samples lacked "good butter flavor".
2. There were brands of margarine that tasted much more like butter than other brands of margarine.
3. The brands of margarine that tasted most like butter were more likely to be acceptable to the butter lover.

Here is a suggestion for a try at the margarine hater. Discuss the situation with him and arrange for a test. If he agrees, choose from among the following brands, preferably the first or second. All can be bought locally. Blue Bonnet; Parkay; Sunnybrook (Safeway); Durkees; Good Luck; Nucoa; Dalewood (Safeway).

Dalewood margarine usually sells for less than other margarines by 7 or 8 cents a pound. It has 9,000 units of Vitamin A (which is about what Winter butter has). When one considers that a pound of carrots has 48,000 units of Vitamin A, kale 21,950, liver 87,000, the lack of 6,000 units in a pound of margarine is no great loss. For a family of ordinary margarine eaters Dalewood margarine is a good buy. GCS sells Delfarm margarine (15,000 units) for 35 cents. Every few months or so GCS features this margarine at the same price or lower than Dalewood. Last weekend they sold it for 29 cents. Assuming that was the cost price, it would seem like a price of 32 or 33 cents at all times would be worthwhile for everybody. To me Delfarm margarine tastes good. (I'm no gourmet.)

Center PTA To Hear Dr. Morgan Speak

Dr. G. Morgan of the University of Maryland will be main speaker at the next meeting of the Center School PTA to be held Wednesday evening, March 28, in the social room of the Center school. Dr. Morgan's talk will concern the growth of the child toward maturity, especially applied to the problem of living in the unstable conditions today. All members of the PTA and other interested persons are urged to attend the meeting and participate in the discussion which will follow.

Errors in Last Week's Column

The 3 lb. box of spaghetti or macaroni now sells for 47 cents at the A & P instead of 45 cents. Because of a blur in the printing, last week's column appeared to read that skim milk powder should not be kept for more than three weeks. It should have read eight weeks.

PVM Bread Flavor Improves

Several days after the price of PVM bread was cut, the writer noticed a definite improvement in the flavor of PVM bread. A number of Greenbelters have noted this change independently and have informed me of their finding. Are you taking advantage of being able to buy a bread that has other breads beat by a mile?
